Android televisions are an excellent quality relationship - you get access to thousands of top-notch apps for TV. You can also use Google Assistant on your Android TV and do much more with a voice command. However, there are some persistent problems with Android TV that hinder the experience and one of these is WiFi connectivity. Many users reported that Android TV cannot connect the wifi connection even when the access point works well on other devices. On some televisions, wifi does not even turn on. So if you're facing WiFi problems on your Android TV, follow our guide below to correct all the navigation problems on the TV. Can the Android TV can connect to wifi? Solve your problems here 1. If your Android TV cannot connect to WiFi, first of all, you need to adjust the date and date settings. To do this, open the settings by clicking the gear icon located in the upper right corner. After that, open the device's preferences. 2. Subsequently, open $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Date and time" and click $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Automatic date and time". 3. Here, select $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Use the network network time". For most WiFi TV issues Android, this will immediately solve the problem. Furthermore, if you are getting $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Connected , no Internet $\bar{e} \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$ error, then will solve the problem then and there. 4. If the steps shown above do not fix it for you then follow these steps. Open the settings and switch to $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Network e Internet $\bar{e} \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$. Make sure the wifi lever is turned on. After that, open your WiFi access point. 5. Now, scroll downward downwards and click $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Network network ". 6. So, reconnect to wifi by entering the password and this time your Android TV wifi should be solved. 7. If the problem still persists, open the WiFi access point again and make sure the proxy is set on $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "NOT $\bar{e} \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$ and IP settings are set to $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ DHCP $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$. 8. Apart from this, some Android TVs face Even $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Hotspot WiFi" and problems in which TV is connected to the smartphone Hotspot, but the Internet does not work. This happens mainly when the data savings limit reaches its ceiling. So to disable the data saver on the Android TV settings open and switch to $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Network and Internet $\bar{e} \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$. 9. Here, open $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Data you will $\bar{e} \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$ and turn it off. 10. In the event that you are dealing with problems as WiFi does not show on your Android TV, then you may have to change some of the router settings. Open 192.168.0.1 On a browser from your computer or smartphone connected to WiFi. You will allow you to access your router settings. 11. Here, search $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "SID Broadcast $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim}$ and make sure it is turned on. Generally, the SSID settings are located under the wireless section, then look there. You will see your wifi access point to all devices. 12. Subsequently, some TVs do not support the 5 GHz WiFi connection. In this case, you need to change the router settings to transmit 2.4 GHz and 5 GHz channels. Under the router settings page, open the Wireless settings and enable wireless radio for 2.4 GHz and 5 GHz channels. Now, you will find your WiFi access program on your Android TV. 13. In the event that the Android TV WiFi Toggle is disabled, it is likely that it is likely to be a hardware problem but we will try some troubleshooting. When the TV is turned on, disconnect the cable directly from the power outlet. Wait a minute and then connect it and start the TV. Now check if you are able to turn on the wifi switch on your Android TV. 14. If none of the previous steps worked for you, you can restore your Android TV. This will delete all your files, apps, yours And remove your Google account from your Android TV. After the reset process, you will start a clean list and most likely, the problem of disabled wifi $\bar{A} \in \bar{a}, \bar{\sim} \bar{A}$ "Android (WiFi WiFi)". Frequently asked questions D.
