That's the idea that sparked a world-building phenomenon in Mojang's amazing Minecraft. Since the game's release on the App Store, a steady stream of meaningful updates has kept this cube-filled universe fun, fresh and jam-packed with exciting features. First off I'd like to say that Mojang has really done an outstanding job keeping up with updates and bug fixes. And I really appreciate them for that. The new Wild update is beautiful and I'm obsessed with the new mobs and terrains that came with it. However, as with most updates, there are always a few bugs and as a user I feel here is the best place to let someone know about the ones I've seen so far! -The first thing was when loading a word (new or already existing) it take quite a bit of time to generate the world, along side that, when you enter the world, your surroundings take a while to load in and throughout gameplay you have to be patient and wait for the terrain ahead of you to load in.-The only other thing I saw was when trying to type in a command. As soon as you touch the keyboard to type, the game starts lagging a little. Once the command is entered it also causes the world to lag and then takes a bit of time for the command to follow through. (I'm afraid that the game is crashing sometimes lol).So far that's all I've seen though, so with a little bit of patience there's really not that much of an issue. I do know that with every update there are also bugs and I know that Mojang really try's there best to fix them asap so im not worried. Thank you Mojang and the developers for your hard work and consistency! I love Minecraft and am always looking forward to experiencing the new and exciting features that await us.
