I'm not a robot

7:00 PM, September 3, 2024Line: CONN -3.5Over/Under: 158.5 Connecticut (2-13) vs Seattle (9-6) June 27, 2025 at 10:00 PM EDT The Line: Betting Odds: Seattle -19.5 — Over/Under: 156.5 (Get latest betting odds) The Connecticut Sun and the Seattle Storm meet Tuesday in WNBA action from the Climate Pledge Arena. We will look at this from a betting perspective and determine the best bets for this game. Here's a Connecticut Sun vs. Seattle Storm prediction.Matchup HistoryThe Seattle Storm won the most recent meeting between these two teams back on September 3rd, 2024, by a final score of 71-64, making it four straight meetings without back-to-back winners in this matchup.Connecticut Sun RecapThe Connecticut Sun come into this game looking to rebound from an 85-59 loss at the hands of the Las Vegas Aces last time out to sit at 2-13 on the year. After this game, the Sun will head on the road for a game against the Minnesota Lynx.Sun Lose Seven StraightTina Charles leads the Sun in scoring with 16.2 PPG along with 5.2 RPG while Marina Mabrey has 15.2 PPG with 5 RPG and 4.1 APG to lead the Sun in assists and to cap off the scoring in double figures for the Sun up to this point in the year. Olivia Nelson-Ododa has 8.6 PPG with 6.4 RPG while Saniya Rivers has 7 PPG with 2.8 RPG and 2.9 APG and Bria Hartley has 7.1 PPG with 2.8 APG. Jacy Sheldon has also chipped in 7.5 PPG and 2.1 APG as well this season. As a team, Connecticut is averaging 70.9 PPG on 38.4% shooting from the field, 28.5% from three and 80% from the foul line this season.Seattle Storm RecapThe Seattle Storm come into this game looking to bounce back from a 94-86 loss to the Indiana Fever last time out to sit at 9-6 on the year. After this game, the Storm will head on the road for a game against the Golden State Valkyries.Storm Have Three-Game Win Streak SnappedSkylar Diggins leads the Storm in scoring and assists with 18.7 PPG and 6.1 APG while Nneka Ogwumike has 17.7 PPG with a team-high 8.2 RPG to lead the Storm in rebounding so far this season. Gabby Williams has 14 PPG with 4.5 RPG, 4.7 APG and 2.5 SPG as well this season. Erica Wheeler also has 11.7 PPG with 3.1 RPG and 3.5 APG to cap off the group of double-digit scorers for Seattle. Ezi Magbegor also has 6.9 RPG and 2.5 APG as well so far this season. As a team, Seattle is averaging 83.3 PPG on 46.8% shooting from the field, 37% from three and 75.3% from the foul line so far this season.Connecticut Sun vs. Seattle Storm PredictionI'm on the under here. I get the case to be made for either side as the Sun are trash but the Storm are also a team I'm not sure I want to lay a massive number here. I just think this is a game where points are going to be at a premium and I think the under comes into play here. Give me the under. 109.4 108.5 107.3 106.2 104.9 104.0 SEATTLE (AP) — Skylar Diggins scored 24 points, Nneka Ogwumike and Gabby Williams had 16 each, and the Seattle Storm handed the Connecticut Sun their eighth consecutive loss, 97-81 on Friday night.Diggins hit 8 of 14 field goals and converted on 2 of 4 3-point attempts. The Storm (10-6) shot 32% (9 for 28) from 3-point range.Aneesah Morrow led the Sun with 20 points and Bria Hartley had 19.Ezi Magbegor added 12 points, and rookie Dominique Malonga had her first double-digit scoring night in the WNBA with 11 points. The Sun (2-14) initially kept things close but the Storm outscored the Sun by 22 points (58-36) across the second and third quarters for an 82-55 lead entering the final frame on a 3-pointer by Erica Wheeler with six seconds to go in the third. The Sun closed the first quarter on a 5-0 run, fueled by a couple of free throws from Tina Charles and the Storm only led by five points entering the second. The Storm have won seven of their last nine games.Up nextThe Sun wrap up their road trip on Sunday against the Minnesota Lynx. The Storm, meanwhile, will embark on a four-game road trip that starts with the Golden State Valkyries on Sunday. ___AP WNBA: The Seattle Storm (9-6) are huge favorites when they host the Connecticut Sun (2-13) at 10 p.m. ET on Friday at the Climate Pledge Arena as we dive in with our Sun vs. Storm prediction. Seattle is the 19.5-point favorite, but the total is a low one at 155.5. That's how bad this Sun team has been this season. We suggest you plug your nose and take the points. Sun vs. Storm expert picks & predictions Our NEW player props odds tool can help you find the best WNBA odds across legal sportsbooks in your area! Moneyline pick: Storm ML (-2381 via Caesars) Against the spread pick: Sun +19.5 (-108 via FanDuel) Over/Under pick: Over 155 (-110 via FanDuel) Who will win Sun vs. Storm? Moneyline pick: Storm ML (-2381 via Caesars) Each product featured on our website has been meticulously researched and selected by our team of experts. If you sign up through our links, we may get a commission. Connecticut has produced a minus-21.2 net rating and has lost seven straight games. Next question. Sun vs. Storm prediction & WNBA best bet Pictured Seattle Storm forward Nneka Ogwumike and guard Skylar Diggins celebrate. Photo by Stephen Brashear / Imagn. Best odds: -108 via FanDuel ($10 pays $9.26) Each product featured on our website has been meticulously researched and selected by our team of experts. If you sign up through our links, we may get a commission. Nobody should watch this game. I'm barely convinced people should be allowed to bet on this game. However, this handicap ultimately stems from the fact that Seattle shouldn't be trusted to notch a 20-plus-point win. The Storm have failed to cover both times they were a double-digit favorite this season, including one outright loss. The Storm's offense isn't explosive enough to run a team out of the gym. Seattle ranks ninth in both pace and percentage of points from the 3-point range. I'll take the large spread in a low-scoring matchup. Star player prop to watch Pictured Seattle Storm forward Gabby Williams celebrates. Photo by Stephen Brashear / Imagn. Best odds: +125 via BetMGM ($10 pays $12.50) Each product featured on our website has been meticulously researched and selected by our team of experts. If you sign up through our links, we may get a commission. Gabby Williams, who was my WNBA Most Improved Player pick, has leveled up her game this season. She's averaging 14 points, 4.5 rebounds, and 4.7 assists per contest. This is an opportunity for Williams to pad her stats a bit, but I prefer the plus-money odds on her rebounds prop. Williams has cleared this mark in two of her past three games, collecting 20 rebounds over that span. Connecticut ranks last in the league in rebound rate, so this is a sneaky opportunity to cash a prop on Williams. Sun vs. Storm odds today Live updated WNBA odds from our best sports betting sites. More WNBA predictions today Best WNBA betting sites Want to bet on Sun vs. Storm? Here are our best sportsbooks and our best sportsbook promos for the WNBA. (21+. Gambling Problem? Call 1-800-GAMBLER)* Bonuses not applicable in Ontario. Not intended for use in MA.Each betting site featured on SBR has been meticulously researched and selected by our team of experts. If you sign up through our links, we may get a commission. Skylar Diggins scored 24 points, Gabby Williams had 16 points, eight rebounds and seven assists and the Seattle Storm beat Connecticut 97-81 on Friday night for the Sun's eighth straight loss.Diggins, Williams and Ezi Magbegor combined to score 35 points in the first half as the Storm led 52-38. Dominique Malonga ran past the defense for a long pass from Diggins and converted a fast-break layup with 1.2 seconds left to cap the first-half scoring. Seattle opened the second half on a 18-5 run, capped by Nneka Ogwumike's 3-pointer, to build a 27-point lead at 70-43. The Storm outscored the Sun 30-17 in the frame to make it 82-55.Ogwumike finished with 16 points and Magbegor scored 12 for Seattle (10-6). Malonga scored a career-high 11 points off the bench. Diggins, who entered with 5,102 career points, passed Swin Cash (5,119) for 24th on the WNBA's all-time list.Rookie Aneesah Morrow had a career-high 20 points to go with 10 rebounds and Bria Hartley added 19 points for Connecticut (2-14). Jacy Sheldon scored 15 points and Olivia Nelson-Ododa had 12. Connecticut was without second-leading scorer Marina Mabrey (15.2 points per game) due to a left knee injury. SEA 29/62 Field Goals 24/58 3/17 3-Point FGs 5/15 10/15 Free Throws 11/17 19 Personal Fouls 14 31 Total Rebounds 30 3 Offensive Rebounds 7 13 Turnovers 15 17 Points Off Turnovers 18 CON