Until a few years ago, Apple didn't seem to recognize the importance of Android users. In the first Android app of the company, there was the possibility of migrating to iOS. After making the increasing user base, Apple finally released Apple music for Android. Publish a launch of scarcity and several updates, the app can now be considered a worthy rival to the music apps on the platform. A powerful streaming app with Focus on Discovery.apple music for Android has been launched in 2015. For a long time, the app provided minimal access to the flagship music streaming service. In the first glance, it didn't seem interested in let Android users enjoy the service. Over time, things have changed, and Apple Music has received several updates to become a popular musical streaming service.Currently, Apple Music allows you to transmit audio to Chromecast and various devices compatible in cast. It is an important advantage for Android users, which cannot rely on AirPlay for streaming music for audio equipment and supported speakers. For a while, different features had been in beta. Recently, Apple introduced the "Live Lyrics" feature, gaining praise by fans around the world. Since Apple has stopped accepting new beta testers For Android, the introduction of these features is definitely a good sign.Focus on Discovery with over 60 million songs in the Apple music library, you will be spoiled for choices. Although the platform does not support the entire iTunes catalog, continue to Growing at a constant pace. In fact, Apple Music has made a good job of the Spotify and YouTube standards of Youtube to give a certain hard competition. If you have some music in a personal library that cannot simply charge it on iCloud, which integrate with other tracks available natively, Easy to configure and explore Apple music, the company has maintained the simple and clean interface of the iTunes service. You are browsing in primary areas using icons at the bottom of the app. "Music" has been designed to learn your preferences to suggest new albums, bands and playlists. It doesn't feel like a passive jukebox in your Android device. With the "For you, Apple music populates advice based on your preferences. It could be an old favorite or a new track you think you like it. The "New" section, as the name suggests, provides music from new outputs, bands, main graphs and kind-specific options. Section "The section is one of the most powerful features of Apple App music. With global stations, you can enjoy yourself A wide range of genres, artists and traces. For example, "Beats 1 is a 24-hour roster of popular DJs that plays a new music from different genres. Enjoy the social connectwith the feature "Live Lyrics" and the price is superior to Apple Music. Another good alternative is YouTube music. It allows people to discover music with recommendations and playlists based on position, the time of day, tastes, what are tents and other considerations. Considerations. YouTube Music allows you to search Live Performances and Music with texts. The only problem is that the free version shows too many ads, interrupting the user experience.
